Aloha,

The Harold K.L. Castle Foundation and Hawai‘i P-20 are co-hosting this learning event. What’s behind flat or declining college going rates? To answer this question we need to first understand the values, attitudes and beliefs that young people hold about their future.

Learning for Action will present findings from focus groups with 11th and 12th grade students in six Hawai‘i DOE high schools and several youth-serving organizations. A panel of K-12, higher education and community leaders will then share what they think these findings mean for high schools and college campuses across the state of Hawaii. Please join us as we center our work upon youth voices.

'When I imagine my future, I overthink; and that overthinking leads to a downwards-spiraling of jumbled thoughts. What career will I pursue? What college will I go to? What will my future look like? Will I not like what I see? Will I regret my choices? As the saying goes: You are your worst critic. The only thing that's holding me back is myself.'
